the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are illiterate has increased from 500 million to 600 million.

There are many reasons for this. One is that the population of the world is growing so fast that the number of people who are illiterate is increasing. Another reason is that the quality of education is so poor that many people who are literate are unable to read and write.

There are many ways to improve literacy. One way is to provide more schools and teachers. Another way is to provide more books and reading materials. A third way is to provide more training for teachers and students.

It is important to improve literacy because it is the key to economic development. People who are literate can read and write, and they can learn new skills and knowledge. They can also communicate with others and participate in society.

There are many organizations that are working to improve literacy around the world. One of the most famous is the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). There are also many private organizations and individuals who are working to improve literacy.

It is our responsibility to improve literacy in our world. We must provide more schools and teachers, more books and reading materials, and more training for teachers and students. We must also provide more support for literacy programs and organizations.

Let us work together to improve literacy in our world. Let us provide more schools and teachers, more books and reading materials, and more training for teachers and students. Let us provide more support for literacy programs and organizations.
